

Community Wildfire Safety Program California Foundation for Independent Living Centers

Supporting the Access and Functional Needs (AFN) Community

PG&E and the California Foundation for Independent Living Centers (CFILC) are working in collaboration on a readiness program to support people with disabilities and older adults before, during and after a Public Safety Power Shutoff or other emergency. This is one of the first statewide programs of its kind.

CFILC is working with local Independent Living Centers (ILC) to conduct a pilot program to provide AFN community members with support and assistance to prepare for disasters and extended power outages. The CFILC will determine who qualifies for resources through an application process and criteria that includes disabilities and chronic medical conditions that require electricity to live independently in the community.

Disability Disaster Access & Resources Program

The Disability Disaster Access & Resources Program is a collaboration between PG&E and the CFILC that enables qualifying customers who use electrical medical devices to access backup portable batteries through a grant, lease-to-own or financial loan application.

For additional information, training and event opportunities for people with disabilities and older adults please visit disabilitydisasteraccess.org.

Additional resources that will be piloted through the collaboration include:

-  Emergency preparedness planning
-  Short and long-term portable battery solutions
-  Accessible transportation resources
-  Lodging assistance and hotel vouchers (during a PSPS event)
-  Food stipends (during a PSPS event)
-  Medical Baseline enrollment education and application assistance
-  Outreach and training for the disability and older adult AFN community

Local ILC Partners

Independent Living Centers (ILC) are grassroots organizations run by, for and about people with disabilities throughout their lifespan. ILCs provide advocacy services to people across all types of disabilities. Services include peer support, information and referral, direct advocacy, systems change advocacy, housing, assistive technology, independent living skills training, transition and personal assistance services.

Frequently Asked Questions

Who is paying for this program?

Through the initial agreement, PG&E is providing $5 million in funding to the CFILC as part of a pilot program to staff and provide support to individuals with disabilities and older adults throughout 2020.

How will the application process work?

Individuals can go online to disabilitydisasteraccess.org or contact an ILC and apply to be considered for resources. The CFILC's Disability Disaster Advisory Committee will make the ultimate determination on who qualifies for backup batteries and other resources through an application process. Medical needs and income will be considered as part of the application process.
